7.11.2025

On Monday, the children in KS2 enjoyed learning all about the works of Alce Harfield. They considered some of the techniques that she uses, including stippling, dabbing, splattering and colour washing. Alce visited with some of her favourite pieces and was able to explain more about her techniques and inspirations. We are looking forward to seeing what our talented artists at Lovington will achieve over the coming weeks.

On Thursday afternoon, the whole school came together to make poppies to display for remembrance. The children used a range of printing and painting techniques to create poppies on paper and wood slices. They worked in their house teams and supported each other brilliantly. These will be displayed outside the school to commemorate our fallen heroes and show our respect for servicemen and women.
